WHAT'S IT LIKE?

RadioLab meets Fried Green Tomatoes.

Each episode features the life of one woman from a distinct time and place in world history. Katie and Olivia take turns each episode, reporting to the other on an interview they recorded with an expert guest. Era-appropriate music and conversational reflection bring the story to life.

HOW DO WE CHOOSE OUR SUBJECTS?

We are lucky to be approached by a large number of publishers constantly releasing new biographies of women in every subject and time period!

It's not that women's stories aren't being told-- it's that they're not yet widely known. That's where we come in. Olivia regularly seeks out outstanding scholars and authors of new books for her interviews.

Katie, a frequent traveler, enjoys recording her interviews on site. As she discovers incredible places, she seeks out the stories of the women who lived there. Her episodes have an element of travel adventure as she takes you along for the ride!

We always aim to feature a wide variety of historical women from every place and time period.

REVIEWS

LIFE CHANGING.

This isn't an exaggeration. I love this podcast. It has been a profound relief to know that women have done things throughout history, and contributed to public life and public good. Thank you so much."

-gb.i via Apple Podcasts, Australia

Such a well-done podcast! I love the focus on lesser-known women from history, but I also love the questions they raise and the fact that I come away from an episode reflecting on my own beliefs and biases. To me, that is what makes a podcast truly great."

-hollijo via Apple Podcasts, USA

When I learned history in the 80s, it was all about memorizing battles, generals, and dates. How I wish we'd had Katie and Olivia's stories back then!

-Les Marshall via Apple Podcasts, UK

I don't listen to podcasts. Ever. At all. Except a week ago I finally listened to What'sHerName and now I'm basically like "Hi, I'm here representing WhatsHerName, can I come in for a moment?"

- Alanna Nelson via facebook, USA

I love this episode so much that I listen to it whenever I am sad and sometimes when I feel happy and inspired too. SO MANY TIMES. Thank you for such a beautiful treasure.
